UM EDUCATOR EARNS NATIONAL RECOGNITION

MISSOULA--

University of Montana Associate Professor Linda Gillison has been selected to receive an Outstanding Advising Certificate of Merit as part of the 2002 National Academic Advising Association's awards program.

Each year since 1983, the association has honored individuals and institutions making significant contributions to the improvement of academic advising.

Gillison is one of only 13 in the nationwide competition who earned the honor in the Faculty Academic Advising category. She teaches in the classics section of UM's Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures and, beginning in June, will chair the department.

"I serve on the University Student Retention Committee as well as the Task Force on General Education Review, and in both of those capacities I've come to see that advising is really one of the most crucial elements in the University's mission," Gillison said.

She will receive the award in October during the association's national conference in Salt Lake City.
